SUMMARY I know all stages of making a website: ux design - prototyping - ui design - web development - pagespeed - onpage SEO - marketing setups. That's due to my freelance, where I do for my clients all the work. Also I'm fluent in English due to me living in the USA for 7 years. I'd like my future position to maximize my variety of skills. I think I'll best fit into a marketing department - or perhaps a PM?
